WASHINGTON, March 24.—With the Senate and House embroiled in a jurisdiction dispute over the proposed Tennessee Valley Authority investigation, Senator Bridges (R) of New Hampshire, today moved to impound the records of the embattled agency pending congressional action.

Asserting that vital files must be kept intact, Bridges warned that unless Congress voted a probe immediately he would seek to have the records seized by court action or Senate resolution.

He again pointed out that the records are "now in complete control" of TVA directors Margaret A. Morgan and David E. Lilienthal, foes of the ousted chairman, Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, and renewed notice that destruction of any documents would constitute a violation of the federal criminal code.

Bridges' assertions came as the proposed probe ran afoul of Senate-House differences.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

A beautiful double rainbow attracted the attention of residents in the rural districts last evening. One of the bows was unusually clear and remained so for some time before they both gradually faded out.

* * *

City firemen welcomed the rain of last night. It will end for a day or two the steadily mounting calls for services in battling grass fires around the outskirts of the city.

Step sign at Allevy street and Sherman avenue, inciting traffic coming from the north, is upside down. Pa Newc is informed.

Out Croton the spring planting has been ruined. One man has a good piece of his garden uprooted and has put in all his small garden stuff, including onions, lettuce, radishes and the like. An old timer said that 30 years ago much planting was done right after the middle of March, and when April came along the lettuce, radishes etc. were doing nicely. Also the kids started to run around in their bare feet.

All the way from Miami to Labrador. That's the kind of a trip the weather man has taken us within the last two days. Folks were mighty glad to grab their discarded overcoats again, and they feel "good" on us today.

These early planters must be feeling kind of shaky today with the fact that their little plants may be frozen.

Smoke emanating from chimneys this morning, and the cooler weather led Pa Newc to believe that winter is definitely well here in spite of the few warm days we have had.

Precipitation, .38 inches.

River stage, 72 feet.

Statistics for the same day a year ago follow:

Maximum temperature, 49.

Minimum temperature, 24.

No precipitation.

Will's Son To Wed Socialite

JAMES B. ROGERS AND MARGUERITE ASTREA KEMMLER

Wedding of James B. Rogers, 22-year-old son of the late humorist Will Rogers, and Marguerite Astrea Kemmler, daughter of a New York importer, scheduled for Los Angeles Saturday, March 26, takes the social spotlight at the moment. When the two appeared at the marriage license bureau, above, Rogers gave his occupation as a rancher at Lompoc, Cal., where the couple will make their home.

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., March 24.—A detachment of U. S. marines aided the secret service in arboring President Roosevelt's complete seclusion here today while southern members of congress, up for re-election this year, pondered his opposition to the political lives of those who have opposed major New Deal measures.

Here in this Pine Mountain cottage at the Georgia Inn, the president is rearing him, the president reported on his health, delivered yesterday at Gainesville, Ga., that he was pressing for congressional approval of a "floor under hours" which

The president, in his south-bound speech, reiterated his conviction that southern industries and wage earners could not hope to compete with the north, the middle west and the far west unless wages and purchasing power alike were definitely raised.

Pittsburgh Fire Loss Is $50,000

International News Service
PITTSBURGH, March 24.—A two-alarm fire, fanned by high winds, swept through the 75-year-old Walton Hall in the heart of the Golden Triangle early today with a loss of $50,000.

The entire block was threatened for a while as firemen fought to gain control of the blaze. Three firemen were injured when a copice of the structure collapsed into the street. A third was cut by flying glass while three others mounting a ladder escaped the avalanche of stone by jumping.

New Court Fight Looms In Congress

Proposed Creation Of New Federal Judgeships To Occasion Battle

"COURT PACKING" AGAIN BROACHED

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 24.—Another congressional court fight—this time over the lower federal courts—was threatened today as the result of proposed creation of new federal judgeships.

Intimations of "court packing" and "playing politics" voiced by the Republicans were denied by administration leaders seeking the new judges.

Recommendation Made.

OVERRIDING THE JUDICIAL COUNCIL headed by Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes and including senior circuit court judges, the house judiciary committee recommended 26 new federal judgeships. The senate judiciary committee has proposed 21, while the judicial council recommended but 16.

Complaints that aged judges remain on the circuit courts while unable to perform their duties have

Britain Also Warns She'll Fight To Preserve Her Own National Honor

By KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, March 24.—In the sternest warning she has delivered since the days of 1914, Great Britain today served notice she will go to war if France or Belgium is attacked or if her own security is menaced by an aggressor.

Without mincing words, Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain gave formal assurance to the house of commons that his government will live up to the letter of its treaty guaranteeing assistance to France against "unprovoked aggression" but refused any prior guarantee with respect to Czechoslovakia.

With this declaration, Chamberlain couched a warning to aggressor nations that Britain will fight to preserve her own independence and national honor whether treaties are invoked or not.

With regard to Czechoslovakia, whose independence is menaced by the growth of Nazism, Chamberlain told the house Britain is "unable to give any prior guarantee."

In obvious reference to the long-standing alliance which demands British assistance in the event France is invaded, Chamberlain said:

"We are bound by certain treaty

Harry G. Harris New Elks Ruler

Elected To Leadership In Lodge Voting Wednesday Night

Harry G. Harris was chosen elected ruler of the New Castle Lodge of Elks last night when members gathered in the North Mill Street home for their annual election of officers.

On the night of March 20, people were attracted to a home where a railroad red line, which had been stuck into the side of the house, blazed gloriously. Upon examination there was found pinned to the fuse a white cardboard bearing in red, blood-like letters the printed words,

"The Three Shadows Have Struck."

Police were notified.

The same occurrence took place at the same hour the next night and also on another house.

Detectives and police at the time believed the "warnings" a hoax but, in order to provide West Side people with peace of mind, they investigated the case and have ordered a team of boys to appear at police headquarters. The boys said it was just a prank.

"No one should do anything like this," said Chief of Police Ralph A. Criswell today. "Some people are blind and secondly, the blaze from the fuse may have resulted in the

and property destruction."

Arrest Two More In Levine Case

Extortion Charge Faced By Youths

Police Charge Pair Wrote Note Demanding Payment Of $30,000

NOT BELIEVED IN KIDNAPING

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., March 24.—Two more youths were under arrest today for attempted extortion in the kidnapping of 12-year-old Peter Levine.

The pair were Walter Fred Lark and George Schaeffer, unemployed teenagers, and Edward John Penn, a high school student.

In Newark, N. J., a third attempt at extorting $30,000 was made yesterday. Thomas Jasko was arrested last week.

Claim Notes Written

Lark and Penn are charged to have written a note on March 5 demanding $30,000 ransom for the kidnapped youth and to have left it on the steps of a Chappaqua residence. The pastor of the church received a telephone call to deliver one note to Murray Levine, father of the missing boy, but delivered it, instead, to police.

Authorship of the note was allegedly traced to Lark and Penn who had been living in North Palmham. In their rooms police found a rifle, a revolver, two black hoods with eye-holes, two long chains, a supply of adhesive tape gloves and several locks and keys.

Slow Progress
Up-river winds permitted the craft but slow progress yesterday, when it made 26 miles from Watertown to Selinsgrove. John P. Myers, Lock Haven, was its new pilot. With him were the three original crew-members, Ed Sutherland, 79-year-old rafter, was the steersman, manning the stern sweep. The others were Levi Conner, brother of the missing Harry Conner, and Clyde Fulton, the cook.

Three bridges were passed under and a hazardous dam crossed during the run from Watertown. At Sunbury, school classes were dismissed to allow students to view the raft's history-repeating passage, and city officials placed a wreath aboard in memory of the Munsey boat.

Reports here that the raft might end its trip at Fort Hunter, on the up-river outskirts of Harrisburg and there be broken up and delivered to its intended purchaser, J. D. Boer, Harrisburg lumberman, were discredited in Selinsgrove by Meyers. He said plans called for bringing the raft to Harrisburg's mid-city waterfront.

"AMERICAN INDIAN"
TOPIC OF SPEAKER

FIELD CLUB AFTERNOON BRIDGE FOR MEMBERS

"The American Indian" was the subject chosen by City Forester Dean Penfield Fox for his address before the East Brook Garden club Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. M. M. Ingman, Court street. Mr. Fox is well known for his work in city forestry and the stories of his personal contact with the different tribes of American Indians.

Mr. Fox told of the Indians' customs, habits, the traditions and beliefs of their various dances. He also displayed a number of Indian relics and told of their use. One of the most interesting was the "war bonnet."

The business session was in charge of the president, Mrs. John Robinson, and opened with the reading in unison of an appropriate poem of Elizabeth B. Browning. The Lord's prayer was then repeated, followed by the secretary's and treasurer's reports. Mrs. Robinson gave a report of the March forum meeting and appointed Mrs. Waddington and Mrs. McDonough as delegates to the April meeting. Afterwards, Mrs. Ingman, who had charge of the program, introduced Mr. Fox.

To close the program, members viewed the display of "Signs of Spring." These varied from feathers and shrubs to the merry croaking frogs.

Mrs. Ingman served a delicious luncheon, assisted by Kathryn Mayberry and Martha and Nancy Robinson.

On April 26 the club will meet in the home of Mrs. W. O. Mayberry, and Kathryn Mayberry, of the Gerdean road.

H. S. P. Club

Miss Grace Lowe of Pearl street, received the members of the H. S. P. club in her home on Wednesday evening. The hours were enjoyed spent in playing various games, including the new game "Bingo."

Prizes for this were awarded to Nellie Simon and Eddie Dicks.

At a late hour, refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her mother, Mrs. J. Lowe.

The club will meet again in two weeks for a similar event, the place to be announced.

GUY GWIN'S HONORED BY FAREWELL SHOWER

In honor of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Gwin, of Grandview avenue, who are moving to another city within a short time, to take up residence, a large group of their friends gathered Wednesday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Reed on Grandview avenue.

A surprise shower was held by the friends and many very lovely gifts were presented to the Gwins. An informal period of entertainment was provided by the hosts during the remaining hours.

Mrs. Reed, added by Mrs. B. R. Bacon, Mrs. Ray Huling and Mrs. William McCune, served a delicious luncheon.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

GRAMMAR CAUSES WORRY

MANY PARENTS are unduly concerned about their child's grammar and, on that account, will nag in vain at him. He, in consequence, may become so vexed as to feel no urge to speak correctly.

The child who hears accurate English in a home very satisfying to him, will want, by and by, to learn to speak precisely. Although he may have gone to school several years before this choice is made by him, he can easily solve the problem for himself, once he really cares to do so. The trouble with our parents and teachers is that we try to make the child employ good grammar just to please us; and so long as he thinks our purpose is so selfish, he has little interest in our wish. Not until the wish is really his, has his very own care expected fulfillment.

I know an eleven-year-old lad who still uses double negatives and knows his parents and his older sister with his "faults." Yet this boy carries on a conversation most eloquently. He has a rich vocabulary; his variety of phrase and sentence structure is refreshing. He never fails now backs up for a fresh start, but goes straight through to the end with well-rounded sentences. Relatively few adults can repeat a personal experience as effectively as he does. "Why," I ask, "should his parents or teacher bother about his slips of grammar?"

RANKED LOW GRAMMATICALLY

Will Rogers ranked grammatically low, but rhetorically he ranked high. I wish we parents and teachers might emulate his rhetoric, and induce our children to do so. It was the novelty, and variety of his statement, coupled with their implications, which so delighted his auditors and readers. He, of course, could easily write and speak grammatically if he really cared to do so. But he chose rather to preserve his ease and freedom of expression.

These Senators happen to be Democrats. But they are fighting a battle for all the people. Senator King of Utah suggested that the measure be labeled: "A bill to weaken the power of the Legislature, to augment the power of the Executive and to increase the cost of Government."

If this bill becomes a law it will do all those things, and more. It will make the merit system a tool of politics.

Probably during this week the United States Senate will vote on this measure which would place additional power in the hands of one individual, the President.

The bill is the reorganization program, which according to many observers, wittingly or otherwise, would make certain fundamental changes in our form of government—take away from Congress powers vested in it by our Constitution and hand them over to the Chief Executive.

The measure proposes to give the President complete power to reorganize the executive branches of government, which is probably the only way the needed reform will ever be accomplished, but the method he is permitted to adopt would establish a dangerous precedent.

To amend any proposal he might make would require disapproval by a two-thirds vote by Congress.

Every serious citizen—and all should be serious now, if ever, because of the recession, the record Federal debt, the mounting public payroll at the expense of the taxpayers and the resultant general unsettled conditions should stop to take a few minutes to consider the import of such delegation of authority.

No fact is more plain than that a free people risks the most serious danger to liberty and even to life by placing the authority of government in the hands of a single man.

In Germany, in Italy, in Russia can be seen the dire effects of a concentration of power.

It must be further remembered that in each of these countries the present governments came into power with resounding and forthright declarations of devotion to the democratic process. No such movement as the recent seizure of Austria is necessary for a dictator to capture a democracy, completely within the framework of democracy, by a series of steps designed to place the supreme power, perfectly legally, in a single hand, it is possible.

It seems only necessary to persuade the people that by thus concentrating authority, some desired end will be achieved.

The bill before Congress seeks to do this—to place greater power in the hands of the President in order, it is said, to make our government more efficient. This destruction of the balance of power among the branches of our government would leave the way open for any would-be dictator.

Any bill which would make it possible for any President to assume dictatorial authority is a threat to fundamental liberty.

Citizens of Lawrence County should take time immediately to transmit their views to their Representatives at Washington, D. C.

There is much opposition to further centralization of authority in executives and bureaus. Many give expression to this belief but they only talk about it.

Pennsylvania Senators are James J. Davis and Joseph T. Cutler, while the congressman for this district is Charles R. Eckert.

MORNING AFTER, IN AUSTRIA

The first thing that must follow the "Anschluss" or union with Germany will be for Austrians to realize the cost in terms of lost liberties. Whatever freedom of the press remained to them under Schuschnigg has already been taken from them, and freedom of worship will be curtailed, as it has been in Germany.

Austrians can no longer sell their lumber where they can get the best price for it because Germany needs and will take it all. They will buy and sell from now on in marks instead of schillings. And the numerous details of their private lives will be regulated for them in the shadow of concentration camps.

Although Austria has been in a bad way since the dismemberment of the Austro-Hungarian empire, and Vienna but a shadow of its former self, freedom of mind and conscience survived. This has now departed. Austrians will now think as Adolf Hitler does or keep their thoughts to themselves or else.

The show's and champagne are over. The morning after has come. And with it have probably come mounds of headaches that can't be dissolved in aspirin.

It is easy to recognize the sucker. His wail always begins: "The man said."

Few people can say no, and maybe you missed many a kiss for want of the nerve to ask for it.

One of the disturbing things about chaps like Hitler is that they always have something else up their sleeves.

A North Hill young man, when asked whether he favored higher education for women, said: "No, if they are pretty, it's unnecessary and if they are not it's inadequate."

I don't see why anybody should be required to be in business.

I don't get that idea at all. It gives me the creeps... And if you give me my choice of salesmen, I'll take a grumpy old shop clerk I used to know, who growled and said hardly a word but sold 'em shoes and saw that they were well-fitting and took our money and sold good by. He could have been a bit more polite, but at least he was selling us shoes and not houses.

Perhaps I AM getting old and husky, but I'm fed up on having people try to Sell Themselves to me. Somehow it seems such a long, long way from the sturdy Americans we used to hear so much about.

The birth rate of families in U. S. today is almost twice as large as families not yet related statistically. Of course, not because of birth control among them.

A lot of American citizens are not worried much about the impending end of the summer, as long as one of them is a popular pendant for the home town club.

To measure the ruler of any land observe the kind of people that come to America to escape him.

The hardest part of retiring is to keep from knocking the young up-starts who replaced you.

Professor: My dear lady, may I ask who or you intend to hear my lecture on Buddhism?

Lady: Certainly I shall attend, you know I am very much interested in flowers.

Europe is so jittery these days that every time a man reaches for his hat in a restaurant over there, they think the country has been taken over by the Nazis.

An effort is being made to revive the game of hurling. Personally, we think this is carrying on sympathy for the Chinese too far.

Put the poor kids studying geometry these days, just when they learn there are such places as Ethiopia and Mauritius, the change names, while Austria disappears entirely.

It is hard to imagine the German adolescent boy or girl is able to utter a few words when he otherwise would have been forced to suffer pain from silence. Come a time when he chooses to abandon slant, in part at least, and to speak more conventionally. Anyway, the language of today will be the king's English of tomorrow. What have been your observations?

All Of Us

By MARSHALL MASLIN

TWO WORDS

I must be getting old and fussy. I've developed a grudge against a pair of words.

Whenever I hear them, I feel the hair standing up on my neck. I read up inside. I give a low growl like a sleepy dog that's been wakened. It's too bad about me, of course, I suppose. I've fallen out of step with the modern world. But I'm the same I don't like to hear a young fellow saying, "I sold myself to that prospect and put the deal over in a hurry."

The two words I don't like are "Selling Yourself". Our grandfathers didn't use them. They didn't even know what they meant. They said the seas and plowed the land and in they were merchants they had things, but themselves.

I've had young fellows try to Sell Themselves to me. They smirched up, made pleasant talk, seemed very interested in me and my affairs and made me think what, fine young men they were and how much they liked me. And when they should have been trying to get right down to business and began their sales talk, they put business on a personal basis. They made a refreshingly frank admission: "I'm not a religious person, but I'm a Christian." And they made me MAD...

...When I said "no" they looked at me like trustful children who had just been told there wasn't any Santa Claus. And that made me mad!

One of these disappointed salesmen complained to a friend of mine that he was afraid I hadn't liked his personality. His personality had nothing to do with my decision. He failed to sell because in my family, at that time, we didn't need what he was trying to sell.

I don't see why anybody should be required to be in business.

I don't get that idea at all. It gives me the creeps... And if you give me my choice of salesmen, I'll take a grumpy old shop clerk I used to know, who growled and said hardly a word but sold 'em shoes and saw that they were well-fitting and took our money and sold good by. He could have been a bit more polite, but at least he was selling us shoes and not houses.

WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

Home Activity Is Disregarded

Every Ear Is Attuned To Europe Listening For New Complications

EVEN ORIENTAL WAR FORGOTTEN

Central Press Washington Bureau 602 Times-Herald Bldg.
By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, March 24.—When a major war is raging or a first class catastrophe has just occurred there is no news except news of that war or catastrophe. Events that in normal times would splash themselves all over all our front pages are lucky to get a paragraph each. Readers disregard even these skimpy paragraphs.

Such a state of affairs has existed lately due to the European crisis. It seems to be subsiding temporarily now following Lithuania's surrender to Poland, but it was a bummer while at its maximum. It may re-intensify itself any day.

DOMESTIC ISSUES FADE
We had plenty of redhot local controversies pending while the old world was sized—the TVA fight, our railroad problem, governmental reorganization, John L. Lewis' demand for three billions for unemployment relief. This being a congressional election year, home politics should be the topic of vehement discussion.

None of those questions, nevertheless, could get much of a hearing with the issue constantly arising:

What of the transatlantic danger?

AND THE ORIENT?

The European commotion, indeed, drowned out talk of the Japanese disturbance.

Many strategists believe that, in the long run, Uncle Sam will find himself more gravely menaced in the Pacific than from the eastward. We have no distant possessions in the latter direction. In the Pacific ocean we have—especially if the Philippines elect to remain American. They show signs of doing so. If they do we scarcely can throw them overboard.

Still, Japan will not greatly worry us for some years to come.

European complications are a matter, possibly, of tomorrow.

ATTENTION DIVERTED

Congress, when in session, ordinarily is the center of newspaper attraction in Washington.

Recently the foreign embassies and legations have been the news nuclei. What is their latest impending-war information from abroad? Diplomats are not as communicative as our own legislators, but they are besieged with questions.

And of course the state department (our foreign relations ministry) is worked overtime.

But congress has been able to get itself seriously listened to only when absorbed with our navy bill—supposedly a defense program, intended not to involve us in but to keep us out of war. War (to keep out of, not to get into) is our theme anyway.

How it will work out, heaven knows.

GUESSING AT POLICIES

Russia's and Italy's respective policies are much speculated on.

Germany is no puzzle; Hitler is rated as definitely on the warpath.

Britain is assessed (to put it plainly) as afraid, and France, to say the least, as timid.

The little peoples do not count.

Russia, curiously enough, is classed as pacifistic, but as unreliable because of the numerous evidences of its internal unrest.

Italy's good faith (to be candid again) is questioned.

Mussolini professes to be pro-Hitler. Yet the Italians, before the World War, were allies of Germany and Austria, but they finally fought on the other side. Can that kind of a country be gambled on?

A BREATHING SPELL?

Well, for the moment the European tension has been slightly modified by Lithuania's acquiescence in Poland's demands.

It is a breathing spell.

But Czechoslovakia remains as an acutely sore spot. German-Italian interests still clash.

A fresh rumble may flare up any minute.

Heck is still to pay in the Far East.

OUR OWN PROBLEMS

In the meantime we can have a little peace to consider—

TVA, the railroads, governmental reorganization, unemployment and our coming congressional primaries and re-election campaign. The Orient generally and the Philippines in particular.

ANTI-CLIMAX

The other night the radio put on a program suggesting "The March of Time."

"Bang! bang! bang!" went shots, indicating the suicide of anti-Nazi Austrians. Women's and children's screams were heard, as aviators dropped bombs on Barcelona and Chinese cities. Dictators bellowed their declarations.

It was horrible.

Right after that followed an advertisement of a new kind of tooth paste.

How about an anti-climax?

Today Is The Day

Other March 24th: 1560—The first recorded explosive bombs were thrown in warfare, upon the town of Wachendorf, Guelderland, Germany. They were the invention of a bishop!

1624—The ship Charity arrived at Plymouth with a bull and three calves, the first cattle imported into the English colonies in America. Swine, goats and chickens came on a following ship.

1841—The steamer President, bound from New York for Liverpool, was last seen. No one ever learned what happened to it and its most distinguished passenger, the first Tyrone Power to be a matineé idol. He was the most famous English-speaking actor of the time.

1853—William R. King, 57, of Alabama, took the oath of office as vice-president of the United States, in Cuba. He was never in Washington while vice-president.

1882—Dr. Robert Koch, 39, German, announced his discovery of the bacillus tuberculosis, just one of the achievements which made him one of the greatest of humanity's benefactors. Yet his wife wrangled with him for spending so much time in profitless bacteriological research instead of attending to his practice as a physician and listening to all the imaginary symptoms of ladies desiring to be ill-in-health.

1894—Jacob S. Coxey, 40, hitched up horse and buggy and led 400 men out of Massillon, O., beginning the historic march of the "Army of the Commonwealth" on Washington. As the unemployed marchers, now increased to 1,000, reached there on May 2, what had been planned as a gigantic demonstration for unemployment relief quickly fizzled out when Coxey was arrested—for walking on the capitol's grass!

1919—William R. King, 57, of Alabama, took the oath of office as vice-president of the United States, in Cuba. He was never in Washington while vice-president.

ENGAGEMENT NEWS

Plans were completed for the installation of the Alpha Gamma Delta Alumnae members to a table on April 5 in The Cathedral Hotel, at their meeting which took place on Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Hazel Cooper, Hillcrest avenue.

Seventeen people with Mrs. William Kline, Mrs. Herbert Cooper, were present.

A Mr. L. B. Coates, was engaged to speak at the meeting.

The engagement will terminate in a wedding soon, the date to be announced.

MR. AND MRS. ENGLISH RETURN FROM CRUISE

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson English, of 100 West Washington, have returned from a 10-day cruise aboard the liner, Empress of Australia.

Mr. and Mrs. English who started the day had a delightful trip, journeyed through Nassau, Cuba and Bermuda.

American Home Watchmen

American Home Watchmen, Post Number 40, met in the McGinn Hall, Tuesday evening. During the business session, the group had an invitation to visit the Franklin Fort, on April 5. Plans were also made to have an anniversary dinner on April 19.

Following the business session, 500 and 500 were played with high score, or 500 going to Maude Thompson and Grace Stoen. The bonus prize was won by Mrs. Dukes.

Mrs. Catherine Cowles was chairlady for this affair. The next meeting will be April 5, with bingo and cards following the business session. The committee in charge included Margaret Hartman, chairman; Blanche Lewis, Mary Grove, Ethel Horne and Mrs. E. Zollinger.

Theatre Party

Members of the A. D. S. Girls club met in Youngstown for a theatre party. A dinner was enjoyed at a downtown tea room, preceding the theatre. Mrs. Lou McDevitt was a special guest of the evening.

In two weeks, Mrs. Kathryn McClinton and Miss Hazel Gilliam will entertain at 925 West Washington street.

was the humble bee spelling contest, for which Mrs. Hazel Cooper, senior vice president of the Auxiliary, and Mrs. Elsie Staebler were captains and Mrs. Gorst, the teacher who presented the simple and sometimes arduous words. Mrs. Staebler's class, not being stung by the bee, won a fine box of candy in reward for their orthography. "The Big Apple" was demonstrated by Mrs. Cleaver and Mrs. Stoen, both receiving tokens. Mrs. Cleaver also gave some fine imitations.

The honored one was presented by Mrs. Orville Potter with a beautiful cake from the group of friends. She had also received many bouquets and cards. A lovely sunshite cake was given by Mrs. Fulton. Mrs. Gorst expressed her appreciation for the kindness of her many friends.

it means a longer life, stronger body and a mind free from worry. Financially it means a better and happier home, more comfort and happiness for my wife and children. Socially, safety enables me to have a better feeling toward my employer and fellow workmen. Safety adds to my courtesy, it makes me think of the other fellow's safety as well as my own.

There is no end to the meaning and practice of safety. It comes up in different ways every day; whenever we are and whatever we are doing we should always find time to make it safe.

Talking and advertising safety is a good way to keep us thinking about it. If you have a good thought or idea on safety, the best thing you can do is pass it along. It may save someone's life or prevent painful accidents.

By keeping our eyes open for unsafe conditions and practices and reporting them to the foreman or safety committee at once we will cut down a lot of accidents. Call attention to careless acts if you see any; you may hurt a man's feelings by doing so, but they will mend quicker than a broken arm or leg. Don't be afraid to "tell them off" about safety. A man who is safety minded will thank you for your kindness. If, on the other hand, he gets sore, you should worry. It will probably start him thinking about safety; you know that one about "every little bit helps," etc.

Let's keep talking and practicing safety wherever we are—at home, at work or on the highway. The good we do may not be noticed, but it will be there just the same. It's the bad accident that gets the headlines in the newspapers and it's a thousand to one bet that carelessness was the cause. Safety Doesn't Get Many Headlines. But Lengthens Our Lifelines! Einar H. Johnson, Columbia Steel Company, Ironton Plant.)

 It is most interesting to note the degree of courtesy displayed by our men throughout the various departments. While walking through the hot mill department the other day we observed a man pulling a freight buggy over a slight incline. Membership Ingathering
Will End With Meeting
Of Teams At 6:30
P. M.

PLEDGES ALSO TO BE REPORTED

Prayer evening at 6:30 o'clock the teams which have been working diligently since March 3 in the annual membership ingathering of the Young Women's Christian Association will gather for the victory dinner in the third floor dining room of the Y building and will submit their final reports.

Heretofore the workers have been reporting only paid memberships, but tomorrow evening they will report promised memberships as well.

At the last luncheon meeting, it was revealed that a total of 564 members had been secured since the start of the ingathering. In general and sustaining memberships, a total of $842.50 had been paid. General memberships cost one dollar, sustaining memberships $5 to $10.

Mrs. W. L. Bean, co-chairman of the ingathering with Mrs. J. J. O'Neill, will preside at the Friday evening meeting.

It is hoped by the close of the campaign, tomorrow, every former member will have renewed her membership and that women who have never been members before will have joined this fellowship of women and girls which is working towards better community, offering friendship, understanding, recreation and education.

Stamp Collectors Select Name For Club At Meeting

Second Meeting Of New Hobby Group Held In Hotel Castleton Wednesday

Hobby riders in the field of postage stamp collecting held a second meeting of their newly formed club, Wednesday evening, in the Castleton hotel. Many new members were added to the roll at this meeting.

Lawrence County Philatelic society was the name chosen for identification of the new group. The members devoted a large portion of the meeting to discussion about the club constitution and activities for future meetings.

Out-of-town visitors were Louis deRitter of Youngstown, and L. W. McDowell of Beaver Falls. Visitor McDowell gave a short but interesting talk on philatelic work being carried on in Beaver Falls. McDowell extended an invitation to the local club to attend the Beaver Valley Sixth Open House party, to be held at the Hotel Brothhead in Beaver Falls, on April 2 and 3.

Wednesday evening, April 6, is the date chosen for the next meeting of the club.

FIGHT OFF COMMON COLDS AND WINTER ILLS FROM WITHIN

Occasional Constipation Helps Invite and Often Prevents Quick Recovery from Common Colds and Other Winter Ailments.

Famous World's Tonic Aids In Keeping Bowels Open

Common cold sickness may not only lay you up but in some cases there is the danger of passing it on to your entire family. By all means fight it off by keeping the intestinal tract open. Don't just trust to luck. This matter is too important. Too many things have begun with just a common cold. Phenomena for instance could start and tubercular cases have been harbored along by a careless attitude toward colds.

You can't go wrong by drinking plenty of water and getting all the rest possible. A good appetite is helpful but all means keep the bowels moving freely. You won't lose anything by eating a lot of fresh vegetables either.

We gave a lot of thought to the blending of World Tonic. We put in roots and herbs from different parts of the old world where many of our healthy-tonic-born ancestors depended upon nature's gifts to prevent constipation. We added beneficial alkaloids for the acids of indigestion. Other ingredients give it tonic values and help when your appetite.

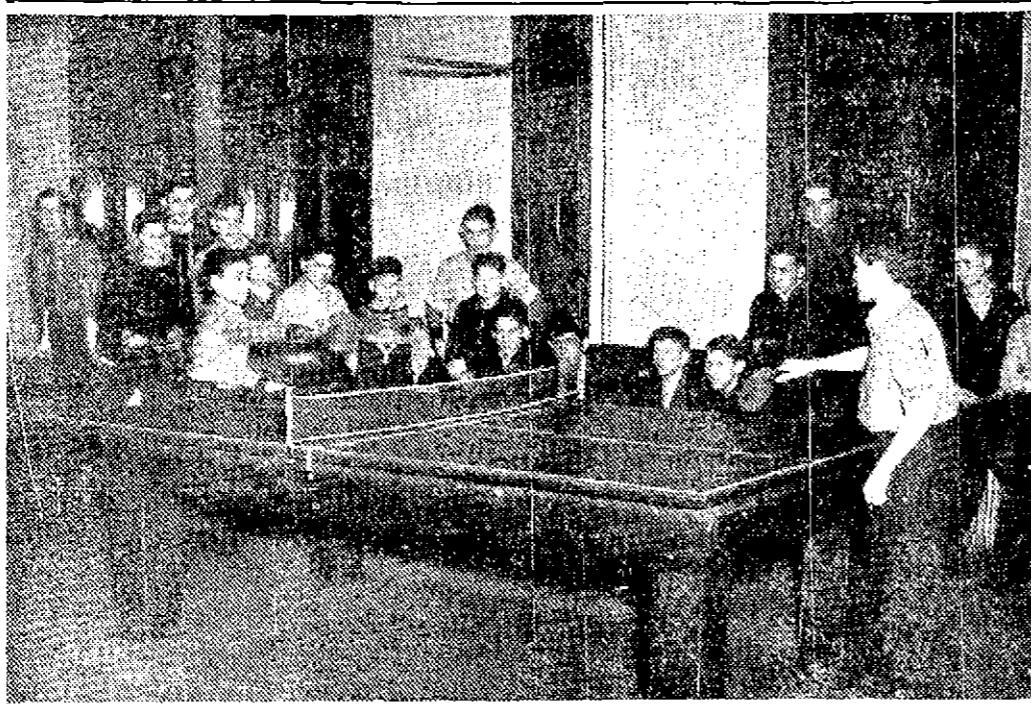

Many of your neighbors are using it and praising it so why not ask them about it. It's good advice to tell you fight off common colds by keeping from within. Keeping your stomach in order, your bowels open and your appetite up will do an excellent share of the work necessary to fortify you against common colds and related winter ills.

This famous medicine is double acting. By helping clear the bowels it aids in preventing the intestinal tract from accumulating deadly poisons. World's Tonic is also a mild diuretic to the kidneys.

Get World's Tonic at Robins' Drug Stores.

'Hi, Tom, I'll Take You On At Ping Pong!'

TYPICAL 'Y' GROUP IN COMPETITION

Ping pong it'll be—or any game you say! Day after day at the Y. M. C. A. something like 70 boys not to mention scores of men pass leisure moments around the four ping pong tables and other playing boards in friendly competition. Typical of the play is the photo above which shows a group eagerly following the bouncing white ball in a make-up game. The annual "Y" membership drive on March 29 and 30 will give citizens new opportunity to further secure such advantages to New Castle youth—and to those who participate in "Y" gym affairs will return dividends in better health.

Has Last Menu Of Titanic As Prize Souvenir

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH—Probably the last dinner menu served on the ill-fated liner Titanic is the prize souvenir in J. L. Flynn's collection.

The thrilling story of how Flynn, a local department store executive, secured the menu was told here recently.

Flynn said he dined with friends on the fatal night and asked them to autograph the menu. He stuck it in his overcoat pocket.

When the alarm, telling passengers the liner was in trouble, was sounded, Flynn was sleeping. He jumped from his bed, threw the overcoat over his shoulder and ran on deck.

Bracing himself against the rail of the shaking ship, he stood with another passenger, Edward Calverhead, watching the sailors and the women and children into the life-boats.

Then the two men were commanded to man one of the lifeboats and take charge of the occupants.

On the following morning, the liner Carpathia picked up the drifting survivors and landed them safely in New York. It was then, Flynn discovered, he still had the menu.

Two photostatic copies of the souvenir have been made and will be on exhibition at the Western Pennsylvania Restaurant Association convention here.

Status Of False Teeth Is Puzzle To Tax Bureau

DENVER—Ralph A. Nichols, collector for the United States Bureau of Internal Revenue, was called on recently here to decide if a pair of false teeth could be classed as capital assets.

A taxpayer filed an income tax return and claimed deductions for loss of his false teeth, contending that it was not a personal loss but a capital loss.

Certain deductions are allowed in the 1938 income tax regulations for losses in the taxpayers trade, business or profession such as farms and other capitals.

Since such a question had not been propounded to the office before, Nichols took the case to a number of experts seeking their opinion. One said, "If the teeth had fallen out of the mouth and broken it would be a casualty within the meaning of the regulation."

Another volunteered the belief that if the teeth had been successfully removed or lost in a tax during construction of the taxpayer's permanent deduction might be allowed.

"However, here is a case of a taxpayer who simply has no teeth without any of these circumstances involved," Nichols said. "I would say he can claim a deduction but he will have to get a ruling from the revenue department."

The value of the missing teeth losses in the taxpayers trade, business was not given.

State's Once Great Lumber Industry Has Dwindled

Raft Tragedy Draws Attention

State's First Saw Mill Was Located Near Scene Of Recent Tragedy

STATE ONCE LED LUMBER INDUSTRY

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
International News Staff
PHILADELPHIA

HARRISBURG, March 24.—The tragedy which befell Pennsylvania's "last raft" near Williamsport symbolized today the tragedy which has overtaken Pennsylvania's once-great lumbering industry.

For where once Pennsylvania provided more than half of the greatest lumbering state in the union, today she is no longer even considered a lumber-producing state.

And symbolic, too, was the place which chance coincidence, or call it what you will, picked for the tragedy when it crashed the unwieldy 122-foot craft against a railroad pier at Muncy with a loss of seven lives—for nearby Williamsport was once "the lumber capital of the world."

First Saw Mill Town

There the state's first saw mill was established, in 1636 and there it was that the famous Williamsport boom was constructed. It was six miles long and held 300,000,000 board feet of lumber. From 1862 to 1891, approximately 31,600,557 logs passed through the boom, totalling some 5,445,298,406 board feet.

Today Williamsport is no longer a lumbering center and Pennsylvania is no longer a lumbering state.

A survey by International News Service gave vivid indication of how the march of time and civilization obliterated a once great Pennsylvania industry.

"There's not much of it left now," commented R. Lynn Emerick, state forester. "Of 1,900,000,000 board feet of lumber used annually in Pennsylvania, less than 16 per cent is cut here now."

Huge Industry Once

Yet at one time the industry's peak in Pennsylvania, in 1899, some 2,321,284 board feet of timber were cut, 62,000 men received employment, $91,000,000 in wages and salaries were disbursed, and the output was valued at $27,303,668. At present values, that would total $136,000,000, estimated Emerick.

Surely more than a decade later, in 1910, the annual cut had dwindled to $1,462,000,000 board feet. By 1920 it had fallen to 640,000,000 board feet and today the yield is estimated at approximately 300,000,000 board feet.

Henry Van Pelt, director of the Bureau of Vital Statistics in the State Department of Internal Affairs, estimated not much more than 3,393 men are now employed in lumbering operations. Wages, by 1936 had diminished to $920,000 annually and the output was valued at $2,506,400 a year—graphic figures which revealed how one of the state's greatest industries had dwindled.

What is left of Pennsylvania's

once flourishing lumber industry whose empire had once embraced Monongahela, Cameron, Potter, Tioga, McKean, Elk, Clinton, Centre, and Sullivan counties is now today centered in Sheffield, Warren county, said Emerick.

"In 1877, we remined," standing pine on the west branch of the Susquehanna River alone was estimated at 6,000,000,000 feet. Today, only a few mills are operating there, each cutting no more than 1,000 to 5,000 board feet annually.

"Yet in 1860 the Keystone state stood at the very top. She maintained her rank of first or second place until 1890 when she took third place. In 1900 she occupied fourth place. Today she is not considered a lumber-producing state."

Only One Charter Member Survives

With Death Of Dr. White, Grove City U. P. Has Just One Original Member

(Special To The News)

GROVE CITY, March 24.—Funeral services at the United Presbyterian church here yesterday for Doctor Maria White left the congregation with only one living charter member, Mrs. Maria Craig, of this city. Doctor White, whose lifetime of missionary efforts entered more than 47 years in India, had been one of a small group that formed the local congregation in 1870. She held the further distinction of being the first woman medical missionary to foreign fields sponsored by the U. P. church, engaging in this work in 1886.

Doctor White used her entire personal income in her missionary work. A legacy left by her father was used to build the White Memorial Hospital in Posur, India and she used so little money for herself that a fund was raised in India, with thousands on contributions from the poorer classes, to buy her a sewing machine with which to make her own clothes.

DRIVER IS FACING CHARGE

Chief of Police Ralph A. Criswell in an information sworn to before Alderman L. C. Mantz yesterday charged Harry Wetrich, North Mercer street, with operating an auto while intoxicated. Wetrich was arrested by Chief of Detectives Shadwalter and Patrolman Wallace at Engle House Alley and Moravia street, March 13. Wetrich denies the charge.

(Special To The News)

PHILADELPHIA, March 24.—The Rev. Zenon M. Corbe, D. D., Executive Secretary of the Board of American Missions of the United Lutheran Church in America, announced today that committee appointments in the Anniversary Appeal of his denomination in the Pittsburgh Synod had been completed with the naming of the Rev. M. M. Albeck, D. D., pastor of St. Paul's Church at Scottdale, Pa., and the Rev. J. P. Fisher, D. D., pastor of Bethel Church, Pittsburgh, as synodical chairmen of evangelism, music and pageants, respectively.

The Anniversary Appeal celebrating the twentieth birthday of the U. L. C. A. is designed to stimulate among Lutherans of the United States and Canada a new interest in their own church and to provide a fund necessary for the church extension program outlined for the next few years.

Score Of New Screen Stars On Film Horizon

By MILTON HARKER International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, March 24.—A score of young ladies, totally unknown a few scant months back, are awakening these mornings to face screen futures as bright as California's usual sunshine.

Practically overnight, a soda jerker, a manicurist, a telephone operator, a dental assistant, a 5-and-10 cent store clerk, a minister's daughter, and even a five-year-old have been among those lifted to the rank of leading lady.

Boomed Into Lead
Louise Campbell, of Chicago, who used to look solicitous while her boss drilled teeth, has just been boomed into the feminine lead opposite Red Mac Murray and Ray Milland in "Men With Wings."

Arleen Whelan was working in a barber shop for $16 a week when a haircut and manicure. He walked out with Arleen.

Vicki Lester, former Dorothy Day, New York photographer's model, has just finished her first lead in "This Marriage Business" at RKO.

Jean Kay Chapman, born in Cincinnati five years ago, was put in the title role of "Little Miss Thoroughbred" at Warners a week after she was tested.

Harold Lloyd cast Phyllis Welch as his leading lady in her very first picture, not yet completed. Miss Welch, dancing teacher and singer, was discovered in Toledo, O.

Made Leading Lady
Lynn Earl, born Marjorie Bitzer in Roanoke, Va., has just been made a leading lady at 20th Century Fox. Her father is the Rev. Robert H. Bitzer, who moved from Roanoke to Boston.

From Dallas, Tex., came Dorothy

Howe, telephone operator. A talent scout saw her in a Little Theatre play.

A year ago Frances Mercur, beautiful daughter of Sid Mercur, New York sports writer, just figured she never would get into the movies. She's just finished the second lead to Ginger Rogers in RKO's "Vivacious Lady."

Kay Sutton started in the movies, got married, dropped out, got divorced and is now back to get her first leading lady role.

Lana Turner was working behind the soda fountain of a drug store here when Mervyn Leroy dropped in. He asked her if she wanted to go into the movies. She stepped into a leading role.

Roselle Towne, "Beauty With Brains" girl born in Youngstown, O., is going into the lead of her first picture. Florence George, of Dayton, O., former Wittenberg College co-ed, got a chance at opera and then a screen contract.

Kay Sutton started in the movies, got married, dropped out, got divorced and is now back to get her first leading lady role.

Interior Of St. Vitus Church Re-Decorated By Artist Member

Some 20 years ago a group of Jefferson and Mainland streets. The energetic and artistic young man began painting the scenes now so well known throughout the House of the Lord, as only the touch of an artist can.

Despite lack of finances on the part of his parents, the youngster worked hard, performing odd jobs and saving every cent he earned. After completing his school career here, the persistent young man went to New York City where he entered the famous Leonardo Da Vinci school. Ruminants and doing odd jobs provided the necessary funds for his education. He then entered Carnegie Tech, and was offered for nine months by Professor Casanova. Having finished his studies in the art of interior decorations and mural painting, the man set out on the world, still determined to accomplish that boyhood ambition. Twenty long years elapsed before that dream of painting the church he always attended, became a reality.

This briefly tells the story of Al Rozzi, 32, of 112 Mainland street, who had spent the past two months decorating the interior of the spacious St. Vitus church, corner South scription reading. "This place is the holy place in which the priest prays." The paintings in the sanctuaries are symbolic of certain features of the Catholic religion, the attractive murals describing the "Annunciation to the Blessed Virgin Mary," "The Good Shepherd." The mural in the center offsets the crucifix on top of the altar. On either side of the sanctuary are paintings of two angels, one holding a banner reading "Glory to God on High," the other reads: "Peace to Man on Earth."

The dome is decorated in panel form to meet the center design, symbolic of the Holy Ghost-Spirit of Wisdom. The ceiling of the sanctuary is sky blue, painted with a profusion of gold stars. Other murals are in a recessed border worked artistically in a light shade.

The lower wall is laid out in a pattern representing a light stone bearing the symbol for the name "Jesus," simple and yet artistic as well as decorative.

All altars and the communion rail have been refinished in bone white, trimmed in gold leaves. The color scheme carried out by the local interior decorator is most appealing to the eye. Columns would best be needed to describe the entire beauty of the paintings. Besides this, a new lighting system has been installed. Five huge bronze chandeliers and new reflectors add the needed touch to the improvement.

Assisting Al Rozzi during the past two months is Victor Rosel, aged 21, who has been following the footsteps of his older brother since he was 13.

The Rev. Fr. Nicholas DeMita today announced that Sunday morning's services will be dedicated to the new improvements. Blessing of new paintings during the 8 o'clock mass. At the 11 o'clock mass, the new lighting system will be blessed.

The sanctuary has been arranged in such a manner as only a skilled and well experienced interior decorator can. The fossil of the sanctuary is in muralistic style adorned with pictures of two sets of angels in three carrying an in-

Spring Tonic For Homes Suggested

Fire Chief McIlwain Urges Residents To Check Up On Fire Hazards

URGES CLEAN-UP HERE NEXT WEEK

While people are taking their annual spring tonic, Fire Chief A. P. McIlwain urges that people also give their homes and property a spring tonic, by cleaning up all rubbish which has accumulated during the winter months, and to check up on fire hazards which exist.

Chief McIlwain told of a sort of modern miracle, which changed a rather squalid area into an attractive street. This was the story of a certain school teacher, who was attracted to a youngster in her room. She got a new dress for the little girl, washed her face nice and clean and combed her hair when she sent her home from her classes.

Clean-Up Idea Starts

This pleased the parents so much that they looked around their home and decided to clean it up a bit. They cleaned the inside thoroughly, and then went outside, repaired the fence which had fallen into disrepair, raked up the yard and planted grass seed. This was too much for the neighbors who joined in the movement with great enthusiasm. The owners of the houses were appealed to and many of them painted the houses.

What happened along this street attracted the attention of the city authorities and was the beginning of a great safety movement. Other cities followed suit, and soon Spring Clean-Up Week, became a national institution.

When cleaning up about the home and yard, the chief reminds citizens of New Castle that they are eliminating fire hazards. Papers and rubbish accumulate in cellars and attics during the winter months. If they are not removed, they become the worst sort of fire hazards.

In cleaning up, people are accomplishing two things. They are making the home brighter and more cheerful, and they are also getting rid of hazardous conditions which might be the start of a serious blaze.

For those who have not already done so, Chief McIlwain urges the citizens of New Castle to set aside next week as Clean-Up week, and to check up on all conditions which might cause fires and to eliminate them.

Tedious hours and patience have resulted in a remarkable achievement on the part of the young man.

The painting is strictly in Gothic style. Several individual figures have been spent in gold leaves which have been carried out attractively in the paintings throughout the interior.

The lower wall is laid out in a pattern representing a light stone bearing the symbol for the name "Jesus," simple and yet artistic as well as decorative.

All altars and the communion rail have been refinished in bone white, trimmed in gold leaves. The color scheme carried out by the local interior decorator is most appealing to the eye. Columns would best be needed to describe the entire beauty of the paintings. Besides this, a new lighting system has been installed.

Five huge bronze chandeliers and new reflectors add the needed touch to the improvement.

Assisting Al Rozzi during the past two months is Victor Rosel, aged 21, who has been following the footsteps of his older brother since he was 13.

The Rev. Fr. Nicholas DeMita today announced that Sunday morning's services will be dedicated to the new improvements. Blessing of new paintings during the 8 o'clock mass. At the 11 o'clock mass, the new lighting system will be blessed.

The sanctuary has been arranged in such a manner as only a skilled and well experienced interior decorator can. The fossil of the sanctuary is in muralistic style adorned with pictures of two sets of angels in three carrying an interior decoration and mural painting, the man set out on the world, still determined to accomplish that boyhood ambition. Twenty long years elapsed before that dream of painting the church he always attended, became a reality.

This briefly tells the story of Al Rozzi, 32, of 112 Mainland street, who had spent the past two months decorating the interior of the spacious St. Vitus church, corner South

saints reading. "This place is the holy place in which the priest prays." The paintings in the sanctuaries are symbolic of certain features of the Catholic religion, the attractive murals describing the "Annunciation to the Blessed Virgin Mary," "The Good Shepherd." The mural in the center offsets the crucifix on top of the altar. On either side of the sanctuary are paintings of two angels, one holding a banner reading "Glory to God on High," the other reads: "Peace to Man on Earth."

The dome is decorated in panel form to meet the center design, symbolic of the Holy Ghost-Spirit of Wisdom. The ceiling of the sanctuary is sky blue, painted with a profusion of gold stars. Other murals are in a recessed border worked artistically in a light shade.

The lower wall is laid out in a pattern representing a light stone bearing the symbol for the name "Jesus," simple and yet artistic as well as decorative.

Seeks Atoms; Finds New Kind Of Explosives

(International News Service)

BERKELEY, Cal.—While experimenting to find the secret of atomic structure, a 24-year-old University of California student, Wendell Zimmerman, has discovered two mysterious new explosives.

War departments of the United States, England and Germany are reportedly interested in the explosives, so far known only as "RPX," which are said to be the most powerful in the world.

The formulae, which Zimmerman found accidentally while experimenting in his La Grange, Illinois home, are respectively 15 and 25 times more powerful than TNT.
The explosives are based on an entirely new principle of compounding.

Zimmerman declares the new explosives, because of their great stability, are much safer to handle than nitroglycerine despite their tremendous explosive force, and may eventually open new fields in the experimentation of rocket propulsion.

The paper was hardly off
the press when the owner was directed to the home of
P. J. Rowland, No. 618
Superior street, where "Poppy"
had been taken in and fed.

Covered with mud and having a starved look in his eye
from going a bit off the dinner
schedule due to being stranded,

"Poppy" was indeed most grateful for being given attention even away from home, but was most happy to be returned to his home folks

which is another bit of proof,
"IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE."

Charles Stewart, who has spent a number of years in missionary work on the Island of Cyprus in the Mediterranean Sea, and in India teaching in mission schools, will speak to the Sunday school of the Maitland Memorial, P. M. church, next Sunday concerning his missionary work in Cyprus, and then at the 11 o'clock church service, he will speak again, this time on "The Leper of India."

BOY CONFESSES
THEFT OF EMPTY

DETROIT.—The police considered of a 12-year-old boy forced him to confess to a "castast-rophic" crime—the theft of three empty milk bottles.

The boy walked into police headquarters, approached an officer and confessed.

"I stole three empty milk bottles and sold them for nine cents to go to a movie. I realize that I did wrong and I came here to be punished."

When the officers had recovered from their amazement, they told the boy home in a sour cap, ad-

he said, "I put mash on ledges bare within

Fire Results From Spark

Dropped By Smoker In

Chair At Nelson Home

Firemen were called to the home of John Nelson, 1219 South Jefferson street, at 4 o'clock this morning, by an alarm from box 85, where they found that someone had been smoking and had dropped a spark into a chair, setting fire to the upholstery and communicating to the floor. A loss of around $75 was suspected.

At 9:40 o'clock Wednesday evening firemen were summoned to

South Jefferson and Maitland streets by an alarm from the same box, but could find no fire.

Wednesday afternoon, at 2:40 o'clock firemen were called to 109½
East North street, where painters were cleaning a gasoline tank, a spark from a wire brush setting fire to the gasoline fumes. The painters had the fire extinguished by the time firemen arrived on the scene and no action was required.

Mayor Relates Thrills Of Ride In B. & O. Engines

Mayor Charles E. McCormick today said that he would not let his sons get the thrill experience of riding behind a steam engine and a diesel engine of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad to see how weighty O. P. fact. His Honor said the trip at the rate of 11 miles per hour gave him a thrill of the major during his ride.

When the mayor crawled into the cab of a steam engine, preparatory to the train starting for Wheeling, he was so anticipating as a youngster who dreamed of some day being an engineer and handling the throttle of a train.

Not having been in the cab of an engine previously, the mayor realized all the thrills that come to those who have had that experience, and he enjoyed it immensely, he reported.

However, his experience, however, showed toward the modern Diesel, was another experience, one which seemed to him but the engineer and fireman assigned to the engine.

The mayor said that the Diesel was so modern that one could enjoy real comfort while the Diesel, drawing 12 passenger cars, climbed over the rails at a rate commensurate with safety.

"As I sat in a chair and looked out the window I realized the effort put forward to keep the tracks and road bed in shape for such fast trains.

"In this, everyone looks forward to safety and were it not for the track-workers, the section hands, the signal men and in fact every rail employee, such performance of the B. & O. Diesel, or any other train, for that matter, could not be obtained.

Safety on the B. & O., like the other railroads, is sought and obtained. And I might state that the Diesel engine has a safety appliance that I never knew existed previous to climbing into the cab," the mayor said.

The Diesel is started and as soon as it is, the engine places his left foot on a pedal. His foot must be

Council Delays Sewer Awards

Pearson Disagrees With Recommendations Made
To Council

MAYOR REQUESTS VITAL INFORMATION

Council met in city hall this morning and for two hours, discussed the proposed award of contracts for materials to be used on the North Mercer street-Euclid Avenue storm sewer. No contract was let. The awards may be made this afternoon when the solons reconvene.

S. D. Pearson of the Pearson Brick company, told council that were the city to use brick the sewer could be completed at a lower price than by using segment block provided by the Universal Sewer Pipe company. This developed into a controversy that was not yet decided at noon.

According to a question asked by Mayor Charles E. McGrath of City Engineer Glenn R. Throop, the city would save $1,000 by using segment block. Pearson took exception to Throop's statement. He declared the city would save money by using brick.

A number of elements caused them to arrive at these conclusions; for instance the kind of mix to be used. In arriving at Pearson's figures, he used the formula of the Master builders. Throop said that, in reaching his figures, he used the formula of the Brick Manufacturers association.

Whether or not a brick sewer could be completed within a reasonable period because of only 60 hours work being allotted bricklayers per month by the WPA was another question. Pearson argued that bricklayers could keep up with the trench-diggers.

Throop argued that Pearson's figures would call for the substitution of brick where the city had under WPA approval, asked for concrete pipe. The city engineer said the WPA would permit the substitution of segment block in those certain sections, but would not approve brick.

Finally, after figures and numerous phases of sewer building were discussed by council, Pearson, Throop, Mr. Woods of the Bricklayers Union, and James Mercer, sewer foreman, Mayor McGrath brought the discussion to a climax. He said that, inasmuch as a statement had been made by Pearson, that the city could save money by using brick and the city engineer differed with the statement, not only Throop but Pearson should HARRISBURG, March 24.—Hazelton high school will oppose Altoona high school for the state scholastic basketball championship at 8 o'clock Saturday night at the University of Pennsylvania Palestra, Philadelphia, it was announced here today by Edmund W. PIAA secretary.

Climaxing a highly successful season with a decisive 47-25 victory over Coal Township high school, Hazelton last night at Reading won the right to oppose Altoona, western regional finalist, in the playoff for the state title. Altoona defeated Fairlawn High School on Tuesday night to win the western crown.

Gersons And Epworth Are Tourney Finalists

Keystones And Castles Beaten In Semi-Finals

Epworth Trims Castles 33
To 16, As Gersons Upset
Keys 27 To 24

Championship Game Likely Next Tuesday Night At Washington High
Gym.

Epworth M. E. church league champs and the Gerson jewelers will be the final ists in the City-County championship tourney at the Washington High gym floor probably next Tuesday night, as a result of their having dumped the Castles and Keystones into oblivion
last night in the semi-final matches.

The Epworths won 33 to 16 and the Gersons 27 to 24
and showed a lot of class in doing so. The final game will no doubt be a hard fought battle. The Gersons are slight favorites to win.

Epworth Takes Lead

In the first game on the night's program, the Castles went down fighting before the onslaught of the Epworths, led by Kennedy and Gromms. The first period found the church league boys out in front, 7 to 2, and at the half 16 to 5. The Castles had the same trouble that the Faleens had the other night;
they couldn't get near the basket.
The only two Castle buckets in the first half were made by Bill King and Mike Covelli. Gromms and Wainio led the scoring for the Ep-worths in the first half.

The Castles came back strong for the third period to out-score the Ep-worths 9 to 3 and make the count 19 to 16 as the stanza ended. In the fourth and final session the victors turned on the heat and led by Kennedy who dumped in four in a row soon had a very commanding lead. King and Guinna led the scoring attack for the Castles.

Couch Jack Lewellen had a smooth working team on the court again last night and it is going to take the Gersons jumping to upset the church league champs for the past two years. The Castles are confident of coming back to the tourney next year and making things tough, according to that swell little star "Ducky" Glannan.

Gersons Go To Town

The Gerson jewelers found a tired out-hard fighting Keystone A. C. off their court last night in the second game on the bill and took a 27
to 24 victory to enter the finals.
Coach Mike Kulich had a fine team on the court and one that has been made for a banquet.

MAHONING SPORTSMEN

On March 26 members of the Mahoning Sportsmen's Association will gather in the Hillsville school for their regular meeting. Plans will be made for a banquet.

Going To New York

The Kippus line will include such well known local stars as Joe Kelley, Pop Adams, Paul Morrison, Dunkin,
Carik, Reed, Lattemen, E. Wainio and Francis Wainio.

Following the game tonight the Kippus team will board the train for New York City to participate in the National Finnish-American basketball tourney against the best in the country. The manager of the team is Ernie Maisen. The Kippus have been selling tickets for the past week or so and expect a big crowd to witness the double-header tonight. The prices are 50, 35 and 25.
The proceeds of the game will be used to sponsor the New York trip after a percentage has been turned over to Sid Lockley, treasurer of the City-County basketball tourney.

Strong Lineups

It will be the first opportunity for the fans of New Castle to see the strong Westminister team in action
this year. The fans will be especially interested in Andy Demo,
the high scorer of the Titan team.
The Kippus hope to give the Collegians a tough battle.

Locals Win In Several Matches At Erie Tourney

The New Castle Field club bad-

Saturday for a tournament and had varied successes.

Ric Monsey of the Field club defeated Phiney of Erie in straight sets 15-12 and 15-13.

O'Donnell of Toronto, Canada, defeated Monsey in the second round 15-13 and 15-10. John W. McIlwraith defeated Leonard of Cleveland 15-1 and 15-8. McIlwraith lost his second round match, but played a beautiful game nevertheless.

Dr. Ross Lillig of Toronto, Canada, defeated Bill Bissell of New Castle 15-4 and 15-1. The Canadian is a highly rated badminton star.

Brown Zahnizer lost a tough match in the first round. In doubles McIlwraith and Zahnizer won in the first round, but were eliminated in the second round. Mon-sey and Bissell defeated Dr. Patrick and Leonard by scores of 15 to 9 and 15 to 7.

There will be a badminton tourney here at the Field club in the very near future, it was announced today.

Explain Way To Help Save Trout

Save a trout is the plea of the Lawrence County Sportsmen's Association to fishermen who are fishing for suckers. Should a trout be caught, wet your hands, hold the fish by the gills and gently remove the hook. If the hook cannot be disengaged, cut your tackle off as close as possible to the fish and return it to the water. If thus treated, a fish will live.

Pull up a chair, fellow fishermen: catching and keeping bait, and the
we are about to depart on a season-long tour of lakes and streams across us sometimes as we consider which will cover every angle of this sport.

In this connection, at the end of each column will appear "Today's Tip" suggesting how to snare that quarry hole veteran or the ghost trout of millstream pool. Also for the statistician, a paragraph on "Rod Records" will be included, telling us where, when and by whom the largest of each species was caught.

Enough about the form and purpose of the column: White water already is pounding the rocks of a thousand streams. It is leaving the last of the lakes and there's

New Ruling For Running Races

Higher Weights For Jockeys
Will Prevail At All Race Tracks

BY PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports
Writer

NEW YORK, March 24.—Within the next few weeks American jockeys will be able to quit starting themselves for by that time higher weights will prevail at every race track in the United States.

A glance at the Jockey club's official organ, The Racing Calendar, today discloses the new rule advocated by the National Association of Racing Commissioners, and the more pinning of the rule in the Calendar means its automatic adoption by the Jockey club.

What does the new rule mean to the turf? Well, for one thing, it will mean that hereafter no horse will carry less than 103 pounds.
Under the old rule on cut-bumper races carry as little as 95 pounds and the jockey who could ride at that ridiculous weight was strong enough to do a horse justice, to say nothing of the punters who might bet on him.

The new rule will not increase the scale weight but it will force the racing secretaries to make their assignments with the scale as the basis.
They will make every horse carry at least 103 pounds and will make top weight in all handicaps scale weight or higher.

Horsemen generally are strong for the new rule. They believe it will be a big boost for the game. It will certainly take many jockeys off at 7:30 o'clock, a softball team will be organized and plans will be made
to give them a longer life.

TO FORM TEAM

During a meeting to be held in the home of Victor "F.F." Augustine, 1812 East High street, this evening, family will take many jockeys off at 7:30 o'clock, a softball team will be organized and plans will be made
to give them a longer life.

GENEVA SQUAD DINES HERE

ment, charged the tipsters represented that they had paid enormous sums of money to owners, trainers, jockeys and others persons for "in-

when in fact they had not.

The indictment described such representatives as "shrewdest sucker taken into custody. Four of the

Gus Lesnevich Goes To Top In Brouillard Bout

Hands Brutal Beating To Former Welter And Middleweight Champ

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports

NEW YORK, March 24—Up over the middleweight horizon today rose another young man freely making threatening gestures and danced by some as a virtual certainty to land in the big money in a very short time to add to the bumper crop of good 100-pounders now springing up everywhere.

The latest is Gus Lesnevich, who comes from New Jersey and who last night truthfully muffed Lou Broillard, hero of Worcester, Mass., former welter and middleweight champion, in 16 rounds. Broillard didn't win a round and suffered what was perhaps the worst defeat of a career stretching back about a decade.

Brutal Beating

It was a brutal beating that Broillard absorbed and one that put Lesnevich right in line for big game, of which there is an abundance. For the moment he is exceeding the Fred Apostol-Glen Lee rematch at 15 rounds to be waged here on Friday night of next week, when champion Freddie Steele's local challenger will be pretty well established if Apostol wins. If he fails, any of a number of middleweights all probably will be clamoring for a crack at the champion.

The point is that if he should score an upset this time by reversing the decision he lost to Apostol before, every contender will be the holder of a more or less spotted record, and Lesnevich may be the one to eventually come through and offer something in the way of prestige that will be outstanding.

Arwood T. Chappie Eckles, Jr., the same young man who several days ago blasted out a 199 string out of a possible 200 at the Nonpareil rifle club range, last night came back strong and put up a 198 string in a great exhibition of steady shooting.

Moore had a 193 string and Earl Robier had a 192 string for the other high places in the shoot. If the Nonpareil had been shooting a match last night the first five men would have had a grand total of 962 which is some shooting.

There will be another shoot at the Nonpareil range tonight at 7:30 o'clock. All of the members are invited.

The results: Eckles 198, Moore 193, Robier 192, Gardner 180, Adams 189, Davis 189, Shaw 186, Glatch 183, Park 182, Anderson 180, Cunich 180, Wood 178, Chambers 175, Channingham 171, Doss 169, Junks 167, Forrest 164, and Elder 130.

TALES IN TIDBITS

By BILL BRAUCHER

Central Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, March 24—Spring is breaking early in the north and east, which may mean that baseball from the Pacific coast will have tournaments a piece.

Horse racing will be an issue when Texas goes to the polls in July... Former Governor Jim Ferguson is campaigning in favor of restoring the sport to the Lone Star State, where racing was killed last year by the legislature and Gov. James Allred... Texas became disgusted with racing because of the mixing of politics and the fact that too many meetings were held... a proposed law, with a local option feature leaving the matter to the counties, has won enough support.

National Women's Champion Estelle Lawson Page will have to defend her honors against a fine field in the women's North and South beginning March 28 at Pinehurst... Among entrants are Mary McCall, Pathy Berg, Kathryn Hemphill, Virginia Gillfoyle, Mrs. Jane Collier Jameson and Miss Glema Collett Vare... Miss Berg was runner-up to Mrs. Page in the fall, but she is the only one left in the American League.

Joe Louis In Coming Battle

By DAVID J. WALSH

Hot off the sport stove . . . from the coast came word to us that Joe DiMaggio can't wait until he arrives in St. Pete . . . and they think that "nothing about" was the way one went put it . . . but to that we say, thank you sir, you are too, too kind . . . although this isn't Florida we'll go a bit fishy, so beat with me . . . the dear old trout season, commonly called brook trout, or trout, you chair, or any species of trout except lake or salmon opens April 15 and closes July 31 . . . size, not less than six inches and during one day, you are permitted to catch 10 of combined species, if you can . . . the lake and salmon season is way off, July 1 . . . on that date, season opens for the following kinds of fish . . . small and large mouth, White Crappie, Straw, or Catfish. Pike perch, otherwise called wall-eyed or Susquehanna Salmon, Pickerel, Muskrat, Lunge . . . frog season gets underway July 2; so does the tadpole competition . . . Terrapin season starts November 2 . . . if you know of any other kind of fish, no mention above, you are permitted to capture them any time during the year.

Thomas No Chump.

Not that Thomas is a chump. He's a pretty fair fighter with a good punch and he's tougher than the average doorkeeper. In fact, against almost anybody else, the fellow's good. But prize fights are won and lost on contrasting styles and Thomas, which so confused Max Schmeling, happen to be just the kind that will make Louis look like a wot.

Thomas' act is to stand there with left foot advanced in the regulation manner but he shifts from shift of his torso, dropping the left shoulder and hand, strictly a sucker gesture against a gent with a right hand as fast as Louis'. The thing isn't an opening. It's an aperture and, if Louis' corner doesn't have him "popping" promptly with a right to the chin, somebody ought to call in the mental hygiene people and give them in charge.

Slight Upturn In Business Is Noted

Wide Improvements Shown
In Business And Industry Past Few Months

Employment Gains Are Also Made In Certain
Branches Of Business

Captain Dingman
At Salvation Army

WASHINGTON, March 24.—The beginning of spring seemed the nation's economic wounds today.

From official sources were some announcements of wide improvements in business and industry, with the prospect of a marked upturn
in trade during the Easter period.

Business improvement included increased employment in both of the manufacturing industries reporting to the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Increased American exports, including automobile products and aeronautical equipment, during the first two months of the year.

Some gains in the steel industry,
although these industries continued to lay off employees. The declines in employment in the heavy industries, however, were much smaller than in earlier months.

Small Loans Help.
Secretary of Commerce Repennounced the signs of an Easter upturn said he had transmitted to congressional committee and government departments an official analysis of nearly 4,000 letters from small business men outlining suggestions for federal help.

The secretary said there is still a definite need for government insured loans to small business men.
He said he hoped these would be granted to aid the upswing.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics, according to Secretary of Labor Perkins, reported February employment gains in the clothing, textile, shoe, cigarette, food and other non-durable goods industries.

An increase in working time for factory employees already on the payroll is indicated by larger increases in payrolls than in employment in February," Secretary Perkins said. "Fifty-six industries of the 69 reporting in the bureau had larger weekly payrolls in January.

A small number of manufacturing plants reported wage rate reductions.
These reductions affected about 40,000 employees, chiefly in cotton textile mills and in factories making silk and rayon goods, woolens, knit-goods and shoes."

She said anthracite mines increased their working forces in February.

AUTO DEALERS TO VISIT VALLEY CLUB

Arrangements are being made by the New Castle Auto Dealers Association to send a large delegation to the meeting of the Associated Auto Merchants of Beaver Valley, on Monday evening, March 28, at the Welcome Club in Beaver Falls.

President William A. Francis stated today that a large number expect to attend the gathering which will be in the nature of a Round-Up of auto merchants of the district.

CEDAR APPLE RUST

HARRISBURG, March 24.—Announced method for the control of cedar apple rust, a fungus disease injurious to apple orchards and prevailing in the southern Pennsylvania commercial apple belt, are explained in a bulletin issued today
by the Bureau of Plant Industry, Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture.

Copies of the bulletin may be obtained without cost by writing to the Bureau of Plant Industry, Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, Harrisburg, Pa., for General Bulletin No. 550.

Local Relatives
At Wheeling Rites

Local relatives of the late James H. Perry have returned home after attending the funeral services in Wheeling, W. Va. Mr. Perry died Monday after several months of illness, and the services were conducted Wednesday afternoon at a Wheeling funeral home with Dr.
